Edmonton Letter

Recorder's Edmonton Correspondent.

Edmonton Alta.—Dark examples of each other, of their "experts" and other assistants, and of the elections themselves hung like a cloud over the members of the government as this week opened.

Continued stalling in the proposed new script issue, on the Alberta "bills" up to this date, which is supposed to be a substitute for one which was to have been presented to the Premier Commission and will be issued this week, and increasing indications of an emergency among private members with the help of at least one member of the cabinet were reported to be contributing to the situation as it became increasingly dangerous politically.

But the cause of the most worry to Premier Aberhart and the conferees whom he hopes are remaining loyal to him for mutual benefit was the complete failure of the "democracy" rallies of the party last week.

The case of A. H. Gibson, K.C., Edmonton police magistrate who was dismissed by order of the cabinet, aroused strong feelings against the government over the week-end. Mr. Gibson declared that he was "democratically" dismissed after a suitable time had elapsed because he had refused to strike his name from the cases of G. F. Powell and J. J. H. Dwyer, M.L.A.s, who were his last assistant. It was Mr. Gibson who committed them for trial by the supreme court.

He had received suggestions and threats to induce him to file the cases, said Mr. Gibson, made known, but had refused to evade his responsibility of giving the charges a fair hearing and a fair decision. There were a couple of other cases in which he may have incurred the spite of Aberhart, but the Powell-Turner episode was the chief cause of his dismissal, Mr. Gibson said.

The Premier, who is also attorney-general, has refused to make a statement after ordering his dismissal; he had refused to give any reason for the dismissal, and he had refused to comment when newspapermen asked him about it. But after the Edmonton Journal had published Mr. Gibson's charges, Aberhart issued a written statement, in which he referred to "brief" but which was considerably longer than all the questions from the (Gibson's) charges had been asked.

Aberhart did not deny in his statement, the ex-magistrate's charge that the Powell-Turner case lay bare the "democratic" nature of the government. He said that he was not "democratically" dismissed, but was dismissed at the necessity for high ideals, discretion, and efficiency, on the bench, but did not accuse Mr. Gibson explicitly of fraud, but said that such an old case could cause dismissal "suggests his falling ability to weigh evidence."

He still did not deny the truth of the charge, but he reverted to attacks on newspapers — particularly the Journal — for having printed what Mr. Gibson said.

It was considered significant that no other member of the cabinet was saying anything about the dismissal or the charge. And it was observed that although Aberhart ridiculed the idea that the Powell-Turner case lay bare in mind, Aberhart himself had talked about it during the "democracy" rallies. The day before, when the subject was raised by Hon. D. B. Mullen in the pre-arranged radio dialogue.

The extent of the collapse of the "democracy" day celebration, like a tub of cold water poured on the social credit party, was fully appreciated only at the end of the celebration when a great check indicated that not more than 2,600 people in the whole province, as a maximum estimate, had taken part in the meeting. It was the previous Monday to celebrate the third anniversary of Social Credit party victory at the polls. Hon. J. L. Macdonald, the premier, had given advance notice of the day as "holly day." On the broadcast during the day "television" cabinet ministers said that there were

Quiet Wedding Unites Gem and Brooks Families

HOWE — IRANVILLER

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Harwell of Gem, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on Friday, Aug. 26th, when their daughter, Edna Isabelle, became the bride of Edgar Raymond Howe, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Howe of Brooks.

House and grounds were becomingly decked with branches and flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. H. Hinchey of Brooks, under a latticed pergola erected on the lawn. It was beautifully decorated with fern and cut flowers. A white bell marked the centre under which the bride and groom stood.

The bride was exquisite in a dress of white tulle, edged with tulle, and floor length with a bolero and white velvet banding. The veil was fingertip length and caught into a train of pearls. The groom wore a tulle-tailor's coat and a white tulle vest.

The minister, the groom, and his best man, Mr. Earl Pollock, took their place beneath the arch. The bride, Miss Jeanette Engstrom, who chose a four length bolero dress of pink organza and carried white roses, and the bridesmaid, Miss Edna Isabelle, proceeded to the bride and her father as they approached the arch. The "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played by Miss Edna Isabelle.

Only the immediate members of both families were present at the ceremony. The bride's mother wore a grey and a coral dress of pink roses. The mother of the groom wore a grey dress with a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served. The wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, formed the centrepiece of a table decorated in pink and white. The bride's going away costume was a suit of yellow shawlkin with white tulle and a coral corsage.

Rosemary, Aug. 28th. — A Christening party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Young when their baby daughter was christened Betty Jean. The ceremony was conducted by a Lutheran Minister from Medicine Hat.

IN LOVING MEMORY

In loving memory of Annie Ramsey beloved wife of R. Broadfoot, who died second day of September, 1938. Ever remembered by her loving husband and son.

5,617 attending meetings at Calgary, but a check there revealed only 554. Even a galaxy of speakers and the Social Credit bank from Edmonton could attract only 210 at Vermilion. In Edmonton, although some estimates said there were about 1,000 present, but the cabinet ministers estimated 210, there were more than 600 people attending.

In its intended efforts to make the "democracy" day celebration a successful, government propagandists sent out to each Social Credit group in advance ready prepared copies of the programme. Those which were not returned to Edmonton for reading over the air. In at least one case a message read during the broadcast of the evening actually recited back in Edmonton.

As a result of the broadcast, the idea that there was a huge crowd hung up by radio broadcast, was completely exploded. Hon. E. C. Manning announced the singing of "O Canada," led by Edwards Johnston. It sound like a military chorus. It was, of course, a photograph record used in the studio. "God Save the King" was announced at the end of the meeting which was attended by no one except six cabinet members; massed bands played, and again a great chorus sang. But again it was only a photograph record.

Escapes Injury When Car Turns Over: Blowout

Mr. L. Proudfoot, of Calgary, met with an accident north of Basasso on Wednesday evening near the three mile corner. The accident was the result of a tire blow-out on Mr. Proudfoot's car.

He was not seriously injured, although he was badly shaken up and suffered a slight cut on the forehead. Considerable damage was done to the car. The top was crumpled in, the windshield broken, and one door was badly twisted. The car rolled over, went through the fence at the side of the road, and came to rest upright in a field. Mr. Proudfoot left for Calgary later the same evening in another car.

Subject of home buying in case he should find this exacting responsibility withed on him as a lesson to teach him his own business—that of earning money to keep the home, but he is pleased, nevertheless, when his wife shares all her trade among the local merchants.

And there is reason for Mrs. Hedley's content when she does so. He knows that when times are good he earns money, and when times are bad, his tight money situation in his own community can be helped by concentrated buying through local channels, so that money is saved for the community instead of some far away, disintegrated market. He knows that when the local merchants are getting the maximum of trade from the district, they, in turn, are spending freely in the community, and so easing the "tight" money situation. If you ask your husband why he likes to trade at the local store he will explain in more or less detail that in doing so you are creating new community wealth.

Dist. to Accept Oats and Barley On Accounts

The District is prepared to accept oats and barley on accounts this year. It will pay 30 per cent on the farm and look after the hauling. In case of carload lots, it will pay 10 per cent on the farm and 20 per cent on the hauling. In other words, it will pay the farmer a premium of 30, on the farm, as long as prices stay at their present levels no difference will be made on grades, providing of course that the grain is at least of reasonable feeding quality. No lot will be accepted.

A number of farmers have asked the District about holding inventory of grain down from the seed distributed last spring. The District has called for list of those wishing such stock next year. It regards that the applications received to date have been most limited, and do not justify the arrangement of any storage. The District is therefore unable to handle any seed wheat; it does, however, urge the growers to hold such seed in their own granaries until spring if it is a possibility for them to do so, as such seed will no doubt command a premium at that time.

A number of enquiries have been received from the management regarding the farm which has been built on the highway, a short distance north of Basasso, and the following information is given to those who are interested:

The land is part of the bank under the highway pumping pit but being at the end of the capital system where water is not always available, it could not be sold until the entire pump project was fully improved. As soon as the project reaches maximum efficiency, the farm will be offered for sale at a price sufficient to cover the full cost of development, which is $10,000, with the price being asked for adjoining farms.

In the meantime it will be operated under a supervised lease which returns the District an excellent yearly rental.

Next Monday, September 5th, Labor Day, is being observed as a complete holiday by the District employees. All camps and operations will be closed for the day.

AN ADVERTISEMENT WILL SELL IT

When a motor car dealer in Helena, Montana, recently acquired a long-vaulted building adjoining his garage to expand his business, he was amazed to find 17 brand new 1937 Mitchell automobiles stored in it.

He was amazed to find 17 brand new 1937 Mitchell automobiles stored in it. He was amazed to find 17 brand new 1937 Mitchell automobiles stored in it.

An advertisement in a Helena newspaper, offering the ancient vehicles for sale, brought such an outpouring of response that the garage man boosted the price from $25 to $125 each and disposed of the entire lot.

You may think we have brand new 1937 automobiles about the place but it is probably no exaggeration to say that every home and business in Helena has a car.

Some valuable, but no longer used article about the premises that could possibly be turned into cash by a little old piece in the Recorder. Anything that is still usable can be sold if advertised in the columns of this paper. You will be surprised at the number of prospects the expenditure of fifty cents or a dollar will dig up.

BUY AT HOME

OUR WORTHY CONTEMPORARY, The Brooks Bulletin, in last week's issue published an excellent editorial on the subject matter of buying at home, and in the meantime, the readers, mostly patriots, of those who indulge in this practice, has this to say:

"But what if we decided that we should shop elsewhere to save a few nickels ourselves, and the local merchants said 'to heck with you!' and closed their doors to whatever trade was left? We would then be forced to buy every pound of food, every stitch of clothing, services of our doctors, dentists and lawyers, our hardware, printing and other necessities from other points, whatever the inconvenience. Then would come realization of the need for rural towns and villages, with the conveniences and friendship they extend."

This reminds us of the words which a former business man in Bassano had displayed in a prominent part of his office: "If I buy out of Town, and you buy out of Town. And all the rest of us buy out of Town. What in Hell is going to happen to our Town?"

As the Bulletin remarks, think it over, and the next time you try to save a dime on a pair of socks, a pound of prunes, or a box of printed envelopes by sending out of Town, figure your savings with a sharper pencil."

SOMETHING TO THINK OVER

OVER THE AIR ON TUESDAY EVENING came the surprising announcement that United States Ambassador to London, Joseph Kennedy had attended the hour meeting of the whole British Cabinet at which the one and only subject matter of discussion appears to have been the present unsettled condition in Central European affairs, and particularly what action, if any, the British Government would take in the event of Hitler attempting to coerce the Czechs by force in order to establish minority rights for Germans living there.

If memory serves us correctly we believe Mr. Kennedy's attendance at this meeting does not create a new precedent. His predecessor in the Great War Days, Walter H. Page, attended several meetings of the British Cabinet after the United States entered the conflict. The reasons for that must be obvious.

It becomes increasingly clear that conditions in Central Europe are alarming, otherwise how can Mr. Kennedy's move be explained. It may only be another diplomatic move made with the purpose in view of showing the world that the United States is not conflict being contemplated if it is known in advance just where the United States stands. Hitler will indeed be bold if once again he dares defy the combined might of the British Empire, France and the United States and possibly others including Russia.

MONEY AND ROADS

FROM LICENSE FEES and gasoline taxes the Alberta Government in the year of Grace 1937 collected $4,915,514 in coin of the realm.

The cost of engineering, grading and finishing a hard surfaced dust-proof highway amounts to $7,000 per mile or less.

Divide as you will the figure 700 with something to spare (for importing horses from Ontario).

There is not as yet 700 miles of hard surfaced highways in the Province unless some U.S. tourist has swiped them.

Pinch-hitting for Mr. Fallo (he is the responsible lad) our Premier-Alberta General says that the Government is spending more than it takes in from these sources on Alberta roads.

If you do not get the point right away, we would recommend further consideration of the facts. After that has been done we ask yourself: is our Premier a good mathematician or was he merely doing violence to the truth?

If our Premier had been correct, and having been in office for more than three years we ought to have had 1,400 miles of hard surfaced roads allowing his Government one year to get organized and under way, with something left for maintenance of existing roads.

Don't run away with the idea that we are advocating car-marking of these revenues for road purposes. We are not. In fact such a policy does not appeal to us at all, but that is another story.

SHIPPING AEROPLANES

ACCORDING TO A NEWS ITEM it appears that the Department of Defence at Ottawa has caused to be shipped by freight certain fighting or training air-craft from the East to Calgary and to the Coast, where they will be used for training purposes. On arriving in Calgary and in Vancouver they will be re-assembled and put into use by the R.C.A.F.

Now there may be a perfectly good reason for shipping these craft by freight other than passing on some business to our Canadian White Elephant: the C.N.R. Why were they not taken from the East to the West? Surely it would have been cheaper, faster and more sensible. We know we won't get an explanation, but we will keep on wondering just the same until we do. Won't someone please oblige?

ANOTHER DISMISSAL

ANOTHER MAGISTERIAL HEAD has been chopped off making a round dozen or more that has so fallen. Falling reasons being as politics (in the popular sense) is the cause. This seems to be the powers that, and an explanation is offered in the form of a written statement. Unfortunately the explanation fails to explain. Nary a single reason does it give. But it did result in another of those well-known characteristic outbursts against the low-down tactics and shoddiness of a vile subversive press. And as such it was a masterpiece. But, pretty please, won't someone tell us in plain English, why was Magistrate Gibson dismissed?

THE ALBERTA BRIEF

THE ALBERTA BRIEF, as amended by "the experts", prepared at a cost said to be in excess of $20,000, is now off the press. It was not presented to the Rowell Commission, but it will get there, just the same. The point of not presenting it to the Commission possibly saved a lot of awkward questions, but the Commission may be somewhat awed by the demand it makes on the Federal treasury. Of a truth they are not, as may appear at first glance, somewhat formidable as is so naively stated in the brief. They are in fact out of the demand is compensation for the expenses of the Social Credit Day ($100,000) in inaugurating the new era in the hazy dawn days to come. Of a certainty for a Government that was going least bit backward in coming forward with demands for real money.

CORN ON THE COB

CORN ON THE COB is the only dish that rivals apple pie. And yet it isn't a dish; it is a little cylinder of bliss that vibrates from ear to ear behind a contented grin. In operation it is something like a slice of watermelon.

When devoted parents try to it, you forget how many fingers, or hands, Emily Post permits you to use in holding it; you just grab it and dig in.

Its best expression is found in Iowa. However, Iowans transplanted it to southern California early in the game. You can buy it from fruit stands, from vegetable carts along the highway, or raise it yourself. When fresh pulled, husked and dunked into a pot of boiling water, it is perfection. If there is a better way it is to impale it on a stick and toast it over a wood-fire in the camp. It puts springs under the heels, hope into the heart and fills the welkin with song.

You can count on it... America will never go communist, fascist or Nazi as long as there is a good crop of corn on the cob. It's a better antidote than an argument. Fill the tummy with it and revolt melts down into a puddle of supreme satisfaction.—Los Angeles Times.

AGGRAVATING SPAIN'S WAR

CIVIL WARS—Real Civil Wars—are notoriously apt to be long dragging on to the point of exhaustion. Witness the Civil War in the United States, and the wars of the Great Britain in England and still more persistent and cruel, the Thirty Year's War in central Europe.

The Spanish war once again illustrates the bitterness of internecine strife, where both sides believe themselves fighting for an idea. But here it has been barously aggravated and prolonged by outside Powers. Now General Franco's rejection of Britain's plan for withdrawal of outside forces kills the latest hope for removing that aggravation. And in view of the strength recently shown by the Loyalists, hopes for ending the struggle soon are not bright.

From the very beginning the rebels had advantages which enabled them to gain initiative. They had most of the army and the navy, and the trained officers. They had Morocco, and Moors—professional fighting men by tradition—available for recruitment.

As the war went on they would soon have become short of men, but troops from abroad came in—brigades of Italians, divisions of Italians, and finally whole army corps of Italians fully equipped with guns, airplanes, and munitions. And after them picked men from Germany—technicians—and from both Germany and Italy whole squadrons of bombers and fighting planes, led by officers who took professional pride in demonstrating the new art of totalitarian war.

The war would soon have been ended by sheer superiority of machine power were it not that the government too had its foreign friends. Machine guns, artillery and airplanes came to it from Russia, and, until the embargo on exports was imposed, even from the United States. Some came by ship some by air, some across the French Frontier.

War on the front and behind; arrest and execution of suspects—the devastation of towns, factories, railways and the sources of economic wealth. Far away the Powers talk and talk about nonintervention—about withdrawal of volunteers. General Franco's blunt message should show that talk is not enough.

CONFIDENCE NECESSARY

FROM REMARKS MADE BY Government ministers at Social Credit rallies held recently, Alberta intends to again try a provincially created money scheme. Apparently, the fundamental defect of all money money schemes seems to escape the attention of Albertarians. The particular form or material of which any given medium of exchange is made is not of great importance. The important thing is its general acceptability. It must circulate or exchange all commodities freely. This is dependent entirely upon the confidence the public has in it. Lack of confidence is the vital defect inherent in all monetary failures. Confidence in money itself, is a subtle, intangible quality that grows out of the belief and experience that any given medium of exchange is based on real, fictitious value and the possession will enrich, not impoverish the user or holder of it.

Whatever chance did exist for the introduction of a new kind of money (and there was no more propitious time than within the first three months of Mr. Alberta's taking office) it does not exist now. If the administration had deliberately and knowingly tried to shake public confidence in its monetary ventures it could not have succeeded better than it has and has done and is still doing today. The fault lies almost entirely within themselves. Take the question of Provincial Savings Certificates. Hard working, thrifty men and women citizens of this province, deposited their life savings in what, before the advent of the Social Credit Government was considered to be a most secure place for such savings. Upon asking for a return of their savings they are told a pro rata distribution of only 14 per cent was available last year and this year only $24 out of every $100 deposited has been returned to the average citizen. The Government has, against the expressed will of the depositor, retained $76 out of every $100 left with it for safe keeping. Social Crediters claim that money is not being borrowed from banks to finance government services. Nothing can be said of the "borrowing" if it can be called that of the funds of the luckless savings certificate holders. The excuse given is that funds are not available to make full repayment. Yet $100,000 is easily available for the proponents of the Social Credit Plan. $8,000 was on hand to pay a visiting "expert" G. F. Powell and a sum amount expended on technician L. D. Byrne. In addition funds are available to pay salaries and expenses of numerous commissions, and heavy law court costs incurred in connection with freak legislative acts. But citizens of this province are denied repayment of their own money. How long could a chartered bank do business if it only returned a small fraction of the money deposited with it? No sane person would expect such a bank to retain the public's confidence for a moment.

Confidence once lost is not easily restored. It would be a more judicious and prudent act to attempt rehabilitation in trustworthiness by making supreme efforts to repay savings certificate holders their own money, and to launch a series of a questionable financial nature. Lack of confidence, foreboding such scheme to certain failure.—Hanna Herald.

Canada Year Book Published

The publication of the 1938 edition of the Canada Year Book, published by the authorization of the Hon. W. D. Baker, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the national resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, science, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout, and includes in all its chapters the latest information available up to the date of going to press.

The 1938 Canada Year Book extends to almost 1,200 pages, dealing with all phases of the national life, and more especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. A statistical summary of the progress of Canada is included in the introductory matter. This gives a picture in figures of the remarkable progress which the country has made since the first census of the Dominion was taken in 1871, sixty-seven years ago.

There are over thirty maps and charts contained in the volume, and two photo-graphic inserts illustrating the sections on "The Flora of Canada" and "Historic Sites and Monuments" respectively. Three hundred and thirty maps are included.

Persons requiring the Year Book may obtain it from the King's Printer, Ottawa, as long as the supply lasts at the price of $1.50, which covers merely the cost of paper, printing and binding. By a special concession, a limited number of new bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona fide students and school teachers, who may obtain copies at the nominal price of fifty cents.

The Importance of Price

TO the wheat producer the price of his product is a matter of first importance.

That is why the Alberta Wheat Pool fights so strenuously for prices protection. Single-handed amidst the trade, it has striven to place the wheat price question in its proper light before all Canada.

In such a campaign it needs support and encouragement from the farm population.

LETTER URGES SUPPORT OF CHINESE REFUGEE SOCIETY

The following letter urging the support of every Bassano citizen, was the Chinese Refugees' Relief Society, headquarters at Calgary, has been handed to the Recorder for publication:

Calgary, Aug. 27th, 1938

To Whom It May Concern:

This certifies that the bearer, Mr. Harry Lee, Calgary, is the Chairman of the Calgary Branch of the Chinese Refugees' Relief Society, which was organized to raise funds for the assistance of war refugees and refugees in China. The funds obtained are used to help provide food, shelter and medical care for the millions of Chinese who are in desperate need. All the money raised is forwarded regularly to the central organization in China, and is then distributed where it can be most vitally used.

All persons who are interested are reminded that there is a mile-box to receive contributions to the Chinese Refugees' Fund placed in every Chinese restaurant in Alberta, as well as a subscription list for the names of those who desire to give larger amounts. The work is a worthy one and has been carried on in Calgary by a joint committee of Canadian and Chinese citizens.

I desire personally to commend the work of this society as an earnest effort to solve the great cause of humanity. May I urge that every assistance be given to Mr. Harry Lee in his attempt to help his fellow-countrymen in their time of great distress. He is a man of ability and of fine character.

A. M. Scott,
Chairman, Calgary Joint Committee

HOW SANDY RANK THE SINK

I had twelve bottles of whiskey which the wife said I must pour down the sink — or else.

So I went down to the cellar and poured the first bottle down the sink, all but a small glassful which I drank. Then I poured the second bottle down the sink, except a glassful, which I drank. Then I took the third bottle which I poured down the sink, except a couple of glasses which I drank.

Next I took the fourth glass and bottled it down the sink, except a bottleful, which I drank.

Then I took the seventh sink and drank it, except for the bottleful which I sank.

Next I poured the twelfth bottle down the glass, except the bottle which I bottled, which I sank in the sink, except a cellarful which I tried to sell, but had to drink instead.

Then holding the house steady with one hand, with the other I fished off the other forty-three houses in the street as they came swimming up the cellar steps, except the cellar which I sank, as I watched the cork pop out of the bottles and pour the stinks down the whiskey, except a glassful which I drank. — Blainmore Paterson.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

CHOOSING A CAMERA

Fast vacation-time action calls for a speedy shutter. Nobody wants to miss shots like this, or get pictures that are blurred and fuzzy because of movement.

If you are planning to get a new camera for your vacation this year, let me suggest that you do not delay until the last moment, and then have to pick your instrument in a great rush.

A camera should be chosen with care and attention to every detail—picture size, lens, shutter, view finder, ease of opening and handling, finish and durability. Moreover, it should be obtained early enough for you to become thoroughly familiar with its workings, because on a vacation you will often want to use it in a hurry.

Compare and handle several cameras before you choose. Buy a lease—maybe you will want an f.1.6 to make sure of well-lit snapshots on all days, or an f.4.5, twice as fast, for speedy action shots in bad light—as well as better indoor snapshots. It is well to bear in mind, too, that a good fast snapshot camera gives sharper pictures—which means better enjoyment of your vacation yields top-notch scenes that you want to have framed.

Make sure that the shutter of the new camera has enough speed to take care of all your probable needs. It is bad when you have a chance for some good action snaps on the tennis court or beach and your camera's shutter is too slow to get them. Remember, too, that if your hand is at all unsteady, a speedy shutter is a great help in getting sharp pictures.

You have a wide choice of camera styles and prices. You can get super-speed miniatures with f.2 and f.2.8 lenses; others with f.5.6 lenses; cameras taking larger pictures that have f.2.8, f.4.5, and f.6.3 lenses. Naturally, the smaller the lens is—the more speed and versatility it has—the more it costs, but there is no need to spend in excess of your needs. Thousands of good pictures are made every day with moderately priced cameras, and they will serve for most snapshot purposes.

"THE STORE OF QUALITY"

CHANGE PICTURE SHOW FOR

FRI. AND SAT., SEPT. 2nd and 3rd. Since going to press, the Recorder has been informed by Mr. Thorsen, that due to unfortunate circumstances the show for next week, Sept. 2nd and 3rd has been changed. Instead of playing "Parnell" as advertised elsewhere in this issue, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" will be shown. This picture is reported to be equally as entertaining, both for young and old, as any that has ever been produced. Please note the change in pictures.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Telling the Vacation Story

Keep a full record of your vacation tour, including information pictures as well as scenic and "snap" pictures. Use the camera for reminders such as this—it's quicker than a notebook, and much better.

quince with the other pictures, provide valuable information for the friends who see your album, and help keep your own memory fresh.

The camera is especially useful for preserving long historical descriptions. It is much quicker than using a notebook, and pictures of unusual markers (such as the one above) are far superior to a mere notebook text.

On this year's vacation tour, try to keep a comprehensive picture story. Remember that if you miss a picture your record may not be complete. A half-made record is better than none, but a full one, that really tells the vacation story, provides for memories that are far richer and more satisfying.

HARVESTING IN PROGRESS FOLLOWING WET SPELL

Following several days of very cool damp weather last week, harvesting operations again came into full swing this week when the weather turned sultry.

Although nearly every farm in the district is working in the field, it is reported that actual harvesting operations are just nicely started.

Warm weather is hoped for the next couple of three weeks to enable this year's crop to be successfully taken in. Grain hauling to the local elevators has been fairly steady this week.

It is expected that yields in the Bassano district will average from 12 to 15 bushels per acre.
